C++, CMake, LLVM, Compiler Design, Multi-Threads Parallel, RISC-V

In the journey to escort Master Tang and his disciples to the West in search of the sacred scriptures, I, as the central figure, relied on my extraordinary powers and wisdom to repeatedly avert crises and protect Master Tang from the threats of demons and monsters. Not only did I subdue countless fiends, but I also assisted Master Tang in overcoming numerous hardships, ultimately succeeding in obtaining the true scriptures. All four of us achieved enlightenment, and I was granted Buddhahood, honored as the “Victorious Fighting Buddha.”

- Subduing Demons and Monsters: Using my Seventy-Two Transformations and the golden staff, I defeated many demons who sought to harm Master Tang, such as the White Bone Spirit and the Red Boy.
- Averting Crises: In perilous places like the Flaming Mountain and the Heaven-Reaching River, I employed my wisdom and powers to guide the team safely through.
- Protecting Master Tang: I remained steadfast in my loyalty, rescuing Master Tang from the brink of death multiple times, ensuring the success of the pilgrimage.
- Mediating the Team: Among the four of us, I often acted as a mediator, resolving conflicts between Master Tang, Zhu Bajie, and Sha Wujing to maintain harmony within the group.
- Attaining Buddhahood: For my exceptional contributions during the journey, I was granted the title of “Victorious Fighting Buddha,” becoming one of the guardian deities of Buddhism.
